Notice of Annual Dues

It's that time of the year again – time to send in your annual dues. Send in your dues check now ($15 single or $25 family) so you don't forget it. It's not a lot of money, but your participation is essential to publishing the quarterlies and the bi-annual directories.

There are members of the family that we have not heard from for over five years. Unless we receive dues or some other explanation from them, we will be forced to remove them from our mailing list. Those affected will still be listed in the directory and kept in the database of members, but will no longer receive the periodic mailings. We take this step only as a last resort.

John P. Jewett
Secretary / Treasurer

From the Editor's Desk

Here I Am!

It is fitting that the first issue of the 2006 newsletter be my initiation.

David and I live in the mountains southwest of Denver, Colorado. We have horses, dogs, and a cat. Woods surround our home so many wild animals wander across our property. David and I alpine and cross-country ski. Sometimes there is enough snow for us to use our own property. Travel tops the list of fun.

David and I look forward to the next Jewett Family Reunion and our first opportunity to visit Massachusetts.

I am an active member of National Society Daughters of the American Revolution. Probably no surprise.

Linda

Letter from the President

It has been a mild January here in the northeast, which is just fine with me. I get sick of snow and ice much sooner than in the past, but I still like the overall New England Climate better than most other places. I guess it is true that home is where you hang your hat.

The JFA is going through some transitions right now but everything seems to be going smoothly. John P. Jewett will be taking over as Secretary / Treasurer shortly and Linda Remley has a good handle on her first quarterly as Editor of Publications. The dues notices were mailed recently and I encourage you to pay yours quickly to build up our treasury so we can continue to bring you the quarterly publications. I encourage you to send anything you would like published to Linda as we are always looking for new material which may be of interest to our members.

A couple of sad notes, we recently learned that long time Director and past President Russell Jewett of Clinton, MA died on October 25, 2005, and former Director Granton Jewett of Watertown, NY died on October 26, 2005. Both were very active in the JFA and we will miss them.

Former President, Dorothy Brigham, has been enjoying the Florida Climate with husband Ranny and their motor home for the past several months. We have been in contact several times by cell phone & email and they are doing well.

Claire & I are planning a trip this spring to visit with my sister in Minnesota and then on to Clarinda, IA where my father's family was prominent in the late 1800s and early 1900s. My Dad and I drove out there in 1986 and I learned a lot about his side of the family. His parents were divorced when he was young and he didn't spend a lot of time in his hometown so he learned a lot too and was able to visit with some people he remembered from his childhood. They have since opened the Nodaway Valley museum and I have learned that they have a lot of information as it pertains to my family including some proof that allows me to link back to John Alden and Priscilla Mullins. My grandmother had always said we were descended from them but there was one missing bit of information about her grandmother's parentage.

I am looking forward to digging my classic cars out of storage and driving them to cruises and car shows this spring. For those of you that didn't know, I have a collection of Oldsmobiles from the 60's. You can see and learn about them at my web site www.teds-olds.com.

The History of Edgar Boardman Jewett 1843 - 1924

Edgar Boardman Jewett (6025) was born in Ann Arbor, Michigan, December 14, 1843. He served as mayor of Buffalo, New York from 1895 – 1897 and died in Buffalo on March 28, 1924. Internment was at Forest Lawn Cemetery. He was a lad of six years when his family moved to Buffalo. Edgar was educated in Buffalo public schools. He joined his father's refrigerator manufacturing business at age seventeen and in 1865 became a partner in John C. Jewett Manufacturing Company. The company had one plant in New York and one in Canada, with sales offices in Chicago, Detroit and Montreal. The John C. Jewett Company was so successful that in 1885 it was incorporated and Edgar became the first president of the Jewett Refrigerator Company and Vice President of the Cary Safe Company. Many other household conveniences were manufactured by the company including ice chests, porcelain lined coolers, hospital and laboratory equipment. Later, Edgar became president of the Columbia National Bank of Buffalo, New York.

Edgar gave twenty-four years of service in New York in the National Guard. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in Company C, Seventy-Fourth Regiment, New York National Guard. The Regiment was called out in 1863 to help restore peace in the New York City draft riots. The National Guard was called out to quell a similar situation in Buffalo. In May 1863, Edgar was elected Sergeant. He held that rank from June to August. In June 1865, he was commissioned First Lieutenant, Captain in April 1866, and Inspector of the Fourteenth Brigade, October 9, 1870. October 25, 1880, Edgar was appointed Chief of Staff of the Fourteenth Brigade. March 1884, he was elected Brigadier General of the Eighth Brigade, serving until December 7, 1885. He resigned due to increased business responsibilities.

General Jewett was appointed police commissioner of Buffalo, New York by the Mayor, in 1894. He was successful in that position. That success earned him the largest majority vote for Mayor in the history of Buffalo. During his administration, twelve new schools were built. Street cleaning contracts were given to the lowest bidder saving the city money. Vacant lots were utilized by allowing 578 families to plant vegetable gardens. Civil service was extended to the entire city government. A merit system was created during his administration.

Edgar was a member of the Episcopal Church and was prominent in the Masonic Order holding a thirty-second degree, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. General Jewett was always interested in the preservation of family history. July 7, 1910, he was elected the first president of the Jewett Family of America.

March 28, 1924, Edgar Boardman Jewett died at Clifton Springs, New York. He was buried in Forest Lawn Cemetery. A company of soldiers from the 144th Regiment accompanied the procession, while a bugler played "Taps". March 1925, the Buffalo Historical Society received a bronze wall tablet in memory of Edgar Jewett. Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. White presented the bronze to the city. Mrs. White (Marion "Molly" Jewett) was the daughter of Edgar Boardman Jewett.

A Letter to the Jewett Family
From Edgar B. Jewett

“The Foreword is Forward”

TO THE JEWETT FAMILY OF AMERICA

Dear Kinsman:

The Jewett family first settled in this country about the year 1638, in Rowley, Essex County, Massachusetts, emigrating from England.

In the year 1855 a very successful and largely attended family reunion was held in the town of Rowley. Much interest was felt by the many descendants of those early settlers. Since that time, and until the present year, a period of about fifty-five years, there had been no further attempt at getting together the members of this family, either from loss of interest or want of someone to take the matter in hand.

On July 7, 1910, another meeting was held, and among other things, the descendants have had themselves incorporated, under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, as the “JEWETT FAMILY OF AMERICA,” of which Association I have the honor of being its first President. I am surrounded by an excellent staff of officers, and it is my desire, and that of all loyal members (and that includes us all), that we make this Association strong in membership and powerful in its influences; and in order to do this, our membership must be made as large as possible and every one must do his part to this end. We need two hundred annual members to keep going, and we will make it five hundred with your help. Every endeavor must be made to find all the descendants of our family, and interest them and see that they are duly enrolled as members. I do not think this part of enrolling will be difficult after we once locate our kinsmen. Once they are found, family loyalty and pride will accomplish the rest. We should also be proud of our family record and achievements in the different vocations and professions as well as on the field of battle.

The further purposes of the Association as set forth in our chapter are the collection and preservation of books, pamphlets, documents, manuscripts, and other historical and antiquarian matter; the publication of historical articles from time to time; the protection of records and monuments of the forefathers, and the erection of suitable memorials; and the holding of reunions of the family for promoting acquaintance and good-fellowship.

If you are interested in these objects, and desire to qualify as a member of the Association, send one dollar to the Treasurer, Thomas Jewett Hallowell, 52 Beaver Street, New York City, who will send you an engraved certificate of membership.

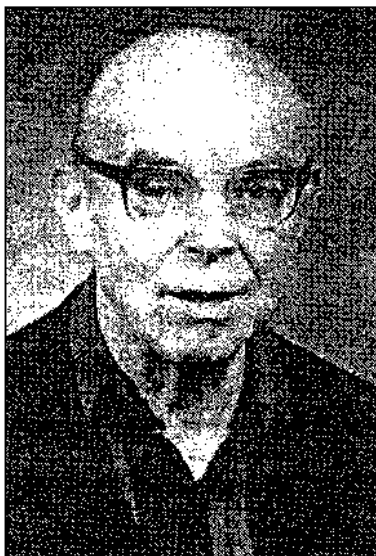

The Jewett Family of America is issuing, under the direction of its Committee on Publication, its first YEARBOOK, and I ask for it a cordial welcome and a quick response in our membership. To every member of the Jewett Family, I send greetings, and I hope you and our Association may live long and prosper.

Yours in bonds of kinship,

EDGAR B. JEWETT

Haiku Poet

Albert Haley began writing poems in college and had several published in student magazines. After graduating from Temple in 1952, and a years graduate work at Penn State (all on the G.I. Bill) and majoring in English, I worked in industry for many years before retiring in 1988, all the while writing and publishing in magazines original poems and translations of Old English poems. My translation of Beowulf was published in 1978, mine of the Old English Judith was published in chapbook form in 1981, and my chapbook of short original poems (not necessarily haiku) titled After the Eclipse, was published in 1999. I am still selling both chapbooks. Since the mid 1980s I have written mostly haiku, but in the spring of 2004 began writing longer poems gain, none of which poetry magazines seemed interested in. Actually, I don't write a lot of Haiku, and when I do write one, it's usually about something that I see, and therefore I am more like Issa than Basho, as translated and edited by Robert Hass in The Essential Haiku.

Genealogical Hint

I asked a dear friend to contribute information because it is so important and not widely known yet. Donna is Chairman of the Spanish Taskforce, NSDAR. Her research began when her husband became interested in his family history. This article is reprinted with permission of the author. Spain's Contribution to the American Revolution by Donna Santistevan

We have all learned about the role France played in our American Revolution but few Americans are aware of Spain's deep involvement. At the time of the American Revolution, Spain owned or claimed all the land of the present United States west of the Mississippi River plus the "island" of New Orleans. From 1776 until war was declared against Great Britain in 1779, Spain covertly sent money, muskets, munitions, medicine and military supplies in great amounts to aid the Americans in their war against England.

These items were shipped by the way of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers. With the British blockade of the Atlantic coast, these river systems served as a veritable lifeline to the forces of George Washington and George Rogers Clark.

After Spain formally declared war against Great Britain, Spain's King Carlos III commissioned General Bernardo de Galvez, Governor of Louisiana, to conduct military campaigns against the British along the Gulf Coast. Galvez raised an army and a navy and defeated the British in many battles in that area. Galvez also provided the French fleet with 500,000 pesos which the French used to re-provision their ships at Havana prior to the battle of Yorktown.

In order to aid the Americans with all this support, in 1780, King Carlos III issued a Royal Order asking each Spanish and each Indian male, 18 years of age or older, in the Spanish colonies to make a voluntary donation to support the war effort. There are at least nine extant documents in the New Mexico State Archives in Santa Fe, NM that describe the "war of Great Britain", "citizen's contribution to the war", and "war fund collections".

One of the documents dated in 1784 is directed to eight mayors of the towns of New Mexico to thank the citizens for their liberal offerings. Another document describes the process for collection the funds. Another, lists the amount collected from the Santa Fe Presidio.

Using these documents and the enlistment papers of the Santa Fe Presidio, proven descendants of the mayors and the soldiers are eligible to join the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution based upon the material aid given to the War of Independence by their ancestors!
