President's Letter

Greetings,

Ann Fleck

The Reunion 2000 is over, but not forgotten! We all had a great time, and everything went on schedule. Ann Fleck's Saturday morning presentation, "The Tale of the Yankee Drummer," was terrific and not to be missed. We had brief welcomes from the Rowley Selectmen as well as the President of the Rowley Historical Society, Ed Desjardins, who was a great help to me in arranging the reunion.

Friday afternoon Mike Jewett gave the testimony at the Jewett Boulder in Rowley Cemetery. A token of appreciation was given to twins Barbara Shaw and Bunny Mansir for their efforts in keeping the Jewett Boulder decorated with flowers. We thank them both.

Magician "Derek the Great" entertained children and adults alike under the tent on Rowley Common. The Friday evening Clambake put on by the Rowley Historical Society was well attended by Jewetts, and it was so much fun to see so many of my old friends in Rowley.

Saturday events were well attended by the Jewetts and Jewett descendants at the Congregational Church where we enjoyed small talk before Craig Laing came by to speak on "Genealogy." Very interesting!

The Board Meeting was held at 11 AM and I was grateful for the presence of so many Jewetts. It meant a lot to me.
After lunch we had a group picture taken and then did the drawing for the 18-count cross-stitch of the Jewett Crest. The lucky winners were Mike and Barbara Jewett of Goshen IN. They were delighted. We had many door prizes throughout the day.

Saturday afternoon Rev. Bill Boylan gave us a talk on the history of Rowley, Georgetown, Joshua Jewett and his diary, and my father Everett Douglas Jewett. The Costume Ball in the evening on Rowley Common (under the tent) was well attended, including Carri Cole and her family (I believe there were eight of them) all done up in colonial costumes. They looked pretty spiffy!

The Sunday service at the Congregational Church was attended by 8 Jewett couples. Rev. Hagopian gave a very nice sermon. And as we all departed, we look forward hoping to see each other again in five years! Maybe we will see more of your then. It was one of the best reunions the Jewetts ever had.

I thank all of you who have sent thank-you notes, e-mails and phone calls. I do enjoy them and was happy to see you all at the reunion.

There are more tote bags, jewelry, counted cross-stitch kits for the Jewett Crest, CD-ROM's, Jewett caps and Jewett ornaments available. These may be ordered from Ted Loranz.

Ted has informed me that we have 28 new members. It is so gratifying to welcome them and hope that they will participate in future activities and projects.

I would like to thank all who helped with the reunion - namely Ted, Lee and the cook and bottle washer Shirley Todd. She put on the lunches for us both Friday and Saturday. Thanks too to all those who assisted with the KP and, of course, to my husband Ranny.

You all have a nice fall. If you get to Maine to see the gorgeous foliage, please call or write and I would be happy to meet with you.

Happy Thanksgiving to all!

Toujours le même,
Dorothy Jewett Brigham

Board of Directors' Meeting
The Jewett Family of America, Inc.
August 19, 2000

The meeting was called to order at 11 AM by President Dorothy Jewett Brigham at the Congregational Church with fifteen attendees.

Those present were: President Dorothy Jewett Brigham, Vice-President/Corresponding Secretary/Treasurer Alfred (Ted) Loranz, Editor/Historian Lee Jewett Petry, Dorothy Jewett Stitt, James Stitt, William Nash, Richard D. Gorball, Carri A. Cole, Robert W. Jewett, Roland C. Jewett, Jr., Sarah Jewett King, Cecilia Jewett McGehee, Michael R. Jewett, Russell E. Jewett and Josephine Jewett Dillon.

In the absence of Recording Secretary Natalie Jewett Bruce, the secretary's report was given by Russell Jewett. Dorothy Stitt requested the name of Dr. James H. Stitt, PhD, be included in the minutes as a Life Member.

Treasurer Ted Loranz reported that the complete report will be in the next Quarterly. There is $21,00 in two accounts.

Under old business, a discussion was held concerning how to move the extra sets of Volumes III and IV of the History and Genealogy of the Jewetts of America. There are approximately 250 sets still available. A suggestion was made to offer the sets as a special for $50.00 per set as we are now in the "green" on the remaining sets. It was also suggested that a Christmas Special be offered. Sets could be donated to libraries for genealogy use. It is desirable to move these sets as storage is a problem.

Under new business, Lee Petry reported visiting the Frank Fanning Jewett House in Oberlin OH. To help with the preservation of this historic home, bricks are being offered at $75.00 each. A motion was made by Cecilia McGehee for the Jewett Family of America to purchase a brick. Motion seconded and approved.

William Nash presented the report of the Nominating Committee. The present officers will remain in office for the coming year. The following names were presented as Directors: James S. Jewett, Spokane WA; Granton Jewett; Cecilia McGehee; Sarah King; and Jeff Gorball, Mason City IA. A motion was made by Ted Loranz and seconded by Roland Jewett to accept the report of the Nominating Committee. Motion approved.

A Nominating Committee for the year 2001 was appointed and approved - Chairman Bill Nash, Cecilia McGehee and Richard Gorball.

The next Directors' Meeting will be September 22, 2001 in Rowley MA.

President Brigham requested that the board members respond to her when they receive communications to aid in her efforts on behalf of the organization. On behalf of the Board, Ted Loranz expressed congratulations to President Brigham for the tremendous job she did in arranging this year's reunion.

Discussion was held concerning the donation of $20,000 made to the organization several years ago. A suggestion was made to use some of this donation for research in England. Carri Cole will get an address and information concerning the suggestion.

A motion to adjourn was made at noon by Ted Loranz and seconded by Carri Cole; so the board members could return to the planned activities for the afternoon. Motion approved.

Acting Recording Secretary,
Josephine Jewett Dillon

Note from the Historian

I am grateful for the information that is sent to me for inclusion in the Qaurterlies. There are several articles which were not included in this Quarterly because I felt that it was important to include as much information as possible about the August Reunion in Rowley. Those articles will appear in the next Quarterly. I would appreciate more input from Jewett Family of America members in the form of photographs, family stories, Bible records, newspaper clippings, or documents that relate to Jewetts and their descendants. I know that each and every one of you has a story to tell and photgraphs to share. The Quarterly is a perfect forum for letting the rest of us know about your Jewett line and its members. Local Jewett Reunions

The Jewett/Pearl Reunion

The 62nd Jewett/Pearl Reunion was held at the home of Henry and Eleanor Moon of Hampton CT on 6 Aug 2000. The day was mostly cloudy, pleasantly warm and no rain fell to dampen spirits. A potluck luncheon was served followed by the annual business meeting; and then, of course, there was plenty of time for visiting and reminiscing.

Marion Emmons gave us a treasure back in the 1970's. It was through her hard work and research that we have the booklet The Descendants of Ebenezer Jewett II and Nancy Maria Jennings Jewett. The information is now outdated, and it is time to revise the genealogy. We are asking families to send in information on deaths, births, marriages, divorces, etc.

Reunion of Descendants of Nathan Rodney Jewett

The 77th Jewett Reunion of the descendants of Nathan Rodney Jewett was held at Hickories Park, Owego NY on 7 Aug 2000. 48 members and guests were present. A covered dish and chicken bar-b-que was served at 1:00 PM. The bar-b-qued chicken was prepared by a local church. A freewill offering was taken to cover this expense and presented to the church.

A short business meeting followed the meal. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. No new marriages were reported. The birth and death on 3 Jan 2000 of Joshua Brian Purdy was recorded.

Bill Nash reported on the National Jewett reunion to be held August 17, 18 and 19, 2000 at Rowley MA. Bill and Vonda Nash and Josephine Jewett Dillon plan to attend. Three directors of the Jewett family of America were in attendance at Owego: Bill Nash, Josephine Dillon and Granton Jewett. Granton's wife Virginia and Bill's wife Vonda were also in attendance. Granton has been ill and probably will not make the trip to Rowley later this month.

Bill Nash also reported on material received from the National Archives in Washington DC. This Jewett information is relative to Jewetts who settled in the local area of Brooklyn, Susquehanna County, PA where our reunion originated.

Tom Shumway, family historian, reported on recent findings. He had computer print-outs displayed to which each family could add missing information.

Another person in attendance was Marilyn Norton who recently returned from missionary service in Central America. The same officers were elected for another year, Next year's reunion will be held at Knobels Park on the first Sunday in August. Two people were in attendance at the first reunion held 77 years ago; they are Marie Coil Oakley and Josephine Jewett Dillon.

It was a rainy day but this didn't dampen the spirits of the gathering who visited and played a board game invented by Bill Nash's two sons.

Montgomery, Vermont Jewett Reunion

On 3 Sep 2000 the 45th annual Jewett reunion was held on Hill West in Montgomery VT. The reunion was founded in September 1955 by Ora Effie Jewett (25366). In the early years the reunion was held in a park-like setting at Witchcat Falls, Bakersfield VT. Later it was held in various available centers. The past several years it has been held on private mountainous property with a beautiful view.

There were 68 people present from Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Washington State. The family of Arlin Jewett, Berkshire Center VT had the largest number of members present. Three attendees were 83 years old: Elizabeth Martin of Bakersfield VT, Beulah Messier of Enosburg Falls VT, and Roger Harness. Two vied for the youngest: Bryce Menees, 19 months, being slightly older that Jedidiah Foster, also 19 months, both, I believe, from Washington State. The James and Linda Foster family came from the farthest away - Washington State. A door prize was won by Arlin Jewett.

New officers were elected for the next two years, and it was decided to meet in the same place again. As customary, the reunion will be held on the Sunday of Labor day weekend.

Mother Nature was very kind to us providing a beautiful, sunny day sandwiched between two rainy ones. Many members attending had not see each other for several years; so there was a lot of "catching up" to do and, as expected, there was much talking and good cheer.

See you next year - 2 Sep 2001 - Hill West, Montgomery VT.

Note from the Historian

My thanks to the people who have submitted information on Jewett reunions held throughout the country. I an sure that there are reunions being held in other parts of the United States as well. I would appreciate being informed ahead of time when and where they are being held; so the information can be published prior to the reunion with a follow-up report on the reunion itself. History of the Jewett Family

Presented by Michael R. Jewett

The Jewett Family is of Norman origin, but when they came to England, the history of the name is surrounded with considerable mystery. Henri de Juatt was knight on the First Crusade (1096-1099). Our name occurred on records in the 13th and 14th centuries and has been spelled several different ways, but pronounced the same.

Edward Jewett, father of the Jewett brothers who first came to America, was born about 1580 and lived in Bradford, West Riding of Yorkshire, England. The coat of arms borne by him was brought to this country by his sons Maximilian and Joseph. Edward Jewett was a clothier; by clothier it is meant that he was a maker of cloth who employed a number of families engaged in the various manual tasks in the production of cloth. Edward Jewett seems to have been a man of property and to have left goodly portions to his children.

There were twenty families that accompanied the Rev. Ezekiel Rogers to New England. Many of them were of "good estate." Maximilian and Joseph Jewett did not come to this country as adventurers. They loved liberty and were men of distinction. They were well marked with religious views. They left their homes to seek a resting place from oppression and a spot there they and their children might enjoy the freedom to worship God. They were men of thought and character.

In the year 1638 there came from England to the New World at least 3000 persons, among them our ancestors. They sailed from Hull, England, on the ship John of London. The group consisted of twenty Puritan families under the leadership of Rev. Ezekeil Rogers. They landed at Charlestown (Boston) about the first of December in 1638.

The following spring the group began their plantation between Ipswich and Newbury. Thus the town of Rowley, Massachusetts, was founded and settled by Rev. Rogers and his hardy band of Puritans of which Maximilian and Joseph Jewett were prominent members.

The history of our family is associated with the most stirring and the most impressive events of the time. The English Puritans took the strongest steps in the march of freedom. The great principles of civil and religious liberty were first fully developed and established by their efforts and sacrifices.

All of the Jewetts of this country spring from this common ancestry with the exception of a few families who have come from England since 1800, and they are probably descendants of the same English family.

Our Heritage of Faith

Presented by Barbara Jewett

The early colonies were mostly founded by people of faith, many fleeing persecution. Even secular scholars refer to the northern colonies as the "Holy Commonwealth of New England." Massachusetts Bay and the Plymouth Plantation were religiously oriented.

One of the earliest attempts to unify the early colonies was the New England Articles of Confederation in 1643 in which the newly created communities declared what motivated them. "We all came to these parts of America with our aim, namely, to advance the kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to enjoy the liberty of the gospel in purity and peace."

These were religious communities which set up civil governments because the Bible mandated civil governments; the Bible was their blueprint. Almost all the early colonies had explicit religious requirements for holding public office.

Later the colonies became states; every state constitution in some way has paid tribute to God as the source of our liberties. The histories of our states are themselves fertile sources of truth about our country's religious origin. The states, after all, created the United States, and not the other way around.

We have a great heritage of faith. This "Faith of Our Fathers" is worth remembering and worth defending against the rampant revisionism of our day, lest we too join those "who forgot where they came from."

Millennial Faith

by Rev. Bob Hagopian
First Congregational Church of Rowley, UCC
August 20, 2000

I think that today should be Thanksgiving day! Yes I know it's only August 20th and we haven't even celebrated Labor Day. Yet, for me, being gathered here together with all of you, is truly a day of Thanksgiving! For I believe we can be thankful for what is one of the greatest gifts we have received from God -- our heritage! Our heritage is a precious gift from which we can learn so much about who we are as unique individuals, as members of our families, of this church and community. Our history can help us to discern how we have become who we are, why we have chosen to live in this community and worship in this church. Above all, by embracing our heritage we can begin to discern how God has been involved in our lives, in the lives of our ancestors, the life of our church and our town. An understanding of our past will help us to discern how God is leading us onward into the future!

This weekend has been one of the great celebrations in our town. We have hosted reunions of our historical families like the Jewetts and the Tenneys. We have gathered under the spacious tent on Rowley Common to share a community meal and to enjoy dressing up in costumes that represent people who have lived over the course of many millennia. We look back on our history with gratitude to God and we marvel at how far we have come in 361 years as a church and a town! We wonder about the future, about how the community is growing and changing. Perhaps with some sadness, we look around us and realize how much has changed in the relatively short spans of our own lives thus far. We fondly remember those who are no longer with us and we cherish our memories of them. While we reminisce and celebrate, as we reflect on all the growth and change in our community, I invite you to think about what has not changed in the past 361 years that we have gathered in covenant together as a church. I invite you to think about how the passing of another millennium cannot dim the bright hope we have together as a people of faith! I invite you to think about how timeless God's love is for all of us, of how our faith in Jesus Christ can be the one constant in a lifetime of change. I am reminded of the Apostle Paul's words in the thirteenth chapter of Hebrews which were written to Christians of every millennium. What he has to say speaks directly to us today as we look back over our history and look forward to a new millennium. Paul wrote: "(5) Be content with what you have; for he has said, "I will never leave you or forsake you." (6) So we can say with confidence, "The Lord is my helper; I will not be afraid. What can anyone do to me?" (7) Remember your leaders, those who spoke the word of God to you; consider the outcome of their way of life, and imitate their faith. (8) Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever."

As Paul asks us to do, today we remember our leaders, our familial and spiritual ancestors who spoke the word of God to us, and we consider the outcome of their way of life -- and, we strive to imitate their faith. We remember families like the Bradstreets, the Daniels, the Dodges, the Dummers, the Fosters, the Haleys, the Harrimans, the Jewetts, the Nelsons, the Paysons, the Tenneys, and the Todds. I would ask that all who are descendants of these faithful families and all who can trace their heritage back to the founding of our community and our church, to please stand! See! -- our heritage is not a thing of the past, it lives in each of these fine people! And, through our being their sisters and brothers in Christ in covenant together as members of this church, we share a special spiritual inheritance with them as well! Today we honor the memory of our founding families and all who helped to make the town of Rowley what it is today. Today we also look forward to a new millennium filled with hope and promise -- all thanks to the faith in the promises God has made for all of us through our Lord Jesus Christ! We are gathered here today to celebrate a new beginning. We each have the opportunity now to rededicate ourselves to the vision our forebears had when they first came to this place, a place that was then called Ezekiel Rogers' Plantation.

Can you imagine how Rev. Ezekiel Rogers and his families who gathered here 361 years ago felt? Can you imagine what they were thinking about while on the long journey across the Atlantic? How did they feel when they first caught sight of this unknown land? How did it feel for them to leave behind their homes in England? Can you imagine how they felt when they finally settled in this particular area that would come to be known as Rowley? Can you imagine their concerns and fears, the primitive conditions in which they lived, the cold winters and hot humid summer, the threats of disease and sickness? Can you imagine what the green heads and the salt marsh mosquitoes were like back then -- especially before the days of Deep Woods Off? Can you see them standing together, surveying salt marshes, the forests and fields, envisioning how they would farm the land, how they would build their houses and their workplaces, their meeting house -- their house of worship -- their future? Over this past week of celebrations and reunions, I feel as if we all have been transported back to that time and place. I've been reading some of our history books and I've heard the stories about the faith, courage and perseverance of our ancestors told by their descendants. I've come to better understand those pioneering families as real people, human beings not unlike ourselves. I've come to appreciate just how much our forebears relied upon their faith to survive and succeed here in this New World.

Yesterday I had the pleasure and privilege to hear Rev. Bob Boylan, from our sister church in Byfield Parish, address the Jewett Family Reunion here in this sanctuary. Among all the wonderful things I learned from Rev. Boylan's speech, the one fact I never fully appreciated before now was how much our ancestors from the Rowley community, including Byfield and neighboring towns, had to do with the forming of our nation. Although you cannot find their names among the list of those who signed the Declaration of Independence or the Constitution, you will find that they set an example of faith, of responsible citizenship and of courage that helped to make us who we are today as a country, a community and a church. Like the Apostle Paul's statement to the Roman Christians that we heard today (Romans 1:16-17), our ancestors were not ashamed of the gospel, for they believed in the power of God for salvation to everyone who has faith. They believed that God would be revealed to the world through their own righteousness! The would live by faith, not by sight! This land, this town, this church would all become shining beacons of faith, hope, peace and joy! Because of their steadfast faith, we have a town named Rowley and churches here in which to worship!

I wonder if in the next millennium our descendants will be gathered -- hopefully right here -- to remember us? And how will they remember us? Will our faith shine just as brightly as our forebears? I certainly hope so! I hope that in addition to remembering our founding families, future generations will recall with equal gratitude, the Boudreaus, the Chases, the Dalzells, the Emerys, the Hazens, the Hills, the Irvings, the Lorings, the MacReas, the McCormicks, the Merrys, the Nelsons, the Perleys, the Reeds, the Rickers, the Robillards, the Schmidts, the Somers, the Terrys, the Thurstons and each of us here! My hope and prayer is that future generations will remember every one of us for how we have embraced the Gospel of Jesus Christ as warmly as we embrace each other in friendship and in faith! At this moment, I feel as if we are here with Ezekiel Rogers, Humphrey Bradstreet, George Daniels, Maximilian and Joseph Jewett, Thomas and Ann Tenney and all the souls of our ancestors gathered here today in this sanctuary! Their faith is very alive here in this church and this community! They have so much to teach us and each succeeding generation that will follow us! By learning from their example, by embracing the Gospel of our Savior Jesus Christ and walking in faith, we can together face the challenges of our growing community, today, and into the next millennium -- and beyond! AMEN

You can Help. Look in your attic for old letters, papers and pictures.

To validate information contained in a Family History it is helpful to collect formal public information that permits the researcher to be specific. Many historical legal documents are not available from court houses or state archives. Although original documents are best, copies work fine; a researcher now has a good base from which to work.

The following is a basic list of the most common information sources found in the home:

Personal Records: Newspaper clippings, photos, baby books, wedding albums, funeral albums, employment and retirement papers, journals, letters and diaries.

Legal Papers: Contracts, tax bills, wills, deeds, mortgages, land sale contracts. Often legal documents contain information that can verify an event not recalled accurately by a family member. Recently a public legal document recorded in 1905 gave a detailed description of the entire family, their relationships, and their home of origin.

School Records: Diplomas, yearbooks, awards, alumni papers.

Religious Records: Marriage, baptismal, christening records, church membership, and quite often when searching for information prior to the recording of state or local records, family Bibles.

Government Records: Military discharge papers and awards, birth certificates, death certificates, marriage licenses, citizenship or naturalization papers, passports, business licenses, Social Security cards, income tax forms.

Photographs: Photographs before 1850 are very rare. Photographs are especially helpful if you can locate a series that displays the subject person's changes over time.

A Compilation of Jewett Involvement in the Anti-Slavery Movement

Gladys Mack Hiles

By the year 1841 much excitement was building concerning the anti-slavery movement in Dayton OH. Negroes were being driven out and their homes burned. Abolition meetings were being held, some followed by riotous demonstrations. In 1827 Doctor Hibbard Jewett (3225) moved from St. Johnsbury VT to Dayton OH where he established a successful medical practice.

Some of the earliest petitions for the abolition of slavery came from the state of Vermont. In 1837 an early one was sent to Congress by Ephraim Jewett (3231), a brother of Hibbard. It read as follows:

> Resolved, that the existence of slavery in the District of Columbia is a reproach, not only to the nation, but to individuals; therefore, President Van Buren's threat to the contrary notwithstanding, we will continue to petition Congress for its abolition, till the petition is granted, or all hope of success is lost.

We should included here that this Jewett family was a close descendant of Deacon Adams of New Ipswich NH who owned the slave in that area. A quote from The History of Hillsborough County (NH) by Hurd states as follows:

> The first [slave] owned in town was a man belonging to a Deacon Adams of New Ipswich NH who became very discontent as he compared the solitude of the wilderness with the cleared fields of old Ipswich.

A date is not given for this quote, but it follows an item dated 1805. I am sure such incidents would affect the Jewett brothers' thinking as they grew up.

From this background came Doctor Hibbard Jewett and another brother, Doctor Adams Jewett (3229). Doctor Hibbard was an open and pronounced abolitionist in times when it took both moral and physical courage to champion anti-slavery principles. For years he was recognized as head of the Underground Railroad in Dayton. He was credited with having saved many a runaway slave from the grasp of his pursuer. He held meetings in his home where lecturers were invited to speak. From a History of the Montgomery County Medical Society, there is a copy of a letter (preserved in the Dayton Museum) which Hibbard wrote to a congressman, describing the kind of treatment he had received after giving lodging to a Mr. Birney, one of the visiting speakers in 1837:

> You probably have heard how Mr. Birney and those assembled were treated and that I, for the sin of lodging him, had my home assailed, the windows broken, and my furniture bespattered with rotten eggs, and my life threatened in case I should ever shelter him or any other abolition lecturer. I confess that as much as I love property and my family, I love the right of freedom more, and will sooner yield my life or see my country deluged in blood that relinquish it. I say this deliberately and thank God that there are others in Dayton equalling unyielding. Whilst in obedience to the dictator of conscience, I shall not oppose force to force. I am determined, as long as my life is spared, not only to assert, but to use the right my Creator has bestowed and the constitution of my county has nominally guaranteed me.

Early in 1841, ex-Senator Morris was invited to speak in the old court house in Dayton by the Anti-Slavery Society. He was lodged by the Jewetts in their home. When they reached the meeting place, there was so much hissing and making of threatening remarks, emphasized with an occasional rotten egg, that they were forced to leave. The dissenting mob reconvened to a nearby grocery to continue their angry demonstration. In attempting to return the Senator to the Jewett residence, the driver of the vehicle was knocked from his seat, and the horse stampeded. In a personal record of that meeting, Doctor Hibbard's wife, Sophronia, noted this about her husband:

> He was an active "abolitionist." His home was mobbed on the night of January 23, 1841 because he held an "abolition" meeting there.

In 1842 his brother, Dr. Adams Jewett, joined Dr. Hibbard in his medical practice and in his anti-slavery activities in Dayton. Adams Jewett had lived and practiced for several years in the south and had seen first hand the plight of the slaves. A comment in The History of Montgomery County Medical Society is made concerning Dr. Adams Jewett:

> He bore an implacable hatred to slavery and any fugitive black man who knocked at his door was sure of a cordial reception and of substantial aid.

Dr. Adams Jewett wrote or compiled many accounts of anti-slavery activities in the United States. A short account in For Love of Dayton gives a bit of history:

> "Sowing the seed for the Civil War." By giving food and shelter to runaway slaves, many people in and around Dayton broke the federal Fugitive Law throughout the 1830's by refusing to turn in known fugitives...even to gain a $50 reward. One of the many local stations on the Underground Railroad was that of Doctor Adams Jewett who house and fed slaves in the cellar and barn.

Both brothers continued their activities until they were no longer necessary as far as is known. Each bore and reared his family. Doctor Adams Jewett had a son who followed in his footsteps in medicine and helped found one of the early hospitals in Dayton.

Doctor Hibbard Jewett and his wife had nine children, with six dying in early childhood and only three surviving into adulthood. One died at age 36 in 1870. His wife succumbed to tuberculosis in 1868. Another daughter married but left no natural heirs. His son, Adams (5688), moved to Celina OH. It was he who made possible this account by one of his great granddaughters.

Doctor Hibbard Jewett died in 1870 and Doctor Adams Jewett died in 1875. They and their families are buried in Woodland Cemetery in Dayton.
