JEWETT HOME - CHELSEA, MICH. — DESTROYED BY FIRE 1904

From the Jewett Family of Mason, Michigan to the Members of the Jewett Family of America, Inc — Greetings.

The Jewett Family of America is most fortunate in having its ancestry traced back to the year 1580. It has been made possible by the many early Jewetts who gave untiringly of their time, strength and money that the facts might be known. Such men as Dr. Fred Clarke Jewett, George Anson Jewett and Deacon Amos Everett Jewett have taken the burden of genealogical research upon their shoulders and with the help of those Jewetts who gave their membership and other financial support have made the Jewett Family of America a National organization of genealogical importance.

To be a member of such an organization is a source of great pride to me and to my family. On a lovely Sunday afternoon shortly before the Christmas holidays we went for an automobile drive. We rode toward Chelsea, Michigan, which is a few miles from Mason and about 15 miles from Ann Arbor, the home of the University of Michigan. It was amid the rolling hills and the lovely winding country roads we found the old Jewett Homestead which was settled in the year 1836 by Eleazer Jewett, my direct ancestor. We was my great, great, great grandfather. The property remains in the Jewett family and is now owned by Mrs. Jane (Watrous) Miller of Ann Arbor.

The original log house was replaced by a substantial stone house which was destroyed by fire in 1904. Ada Jewett married John Waltrous and they made their home here with their son Roland Waltrous until it burned. It was later replaced by a larger more magnificent home where Roland and Ruth Waltrous continued to live until their deaths. Roland Waltrous lived on the old homestead until his death last August 5, 1957, at the age of 83. His daughter Jane Roena Miller and her husband are presently remodeling the old homestead which they plan to occupy soon. This Jewett Homestead has just recently had the honor of being declared a Centennial Farm, a rare honor in Michigan.

In all sections of the United States we can point with pride to the history made by the Jewetts in America. The record made by the members of this Family is outstanding and one which should and must be so continued. Only by such cooperation, interest and hard work as has been manifested by members of past years can this be done. If you are a Jewett you are a member and the initial fee of $2.00 followed by the yearly dues of $1.00 simply shows that you are proud to help with the continued publications of the Association and the continued success of the organization.

I am certain that a reminder campaign carried on by every member will bring great results. If each member will determine to get two more members within the month or even within the year what a growth we would see and how much more active the organization would get. See to it that our Secretary gets the new members' dues, and pronto, each will receive a copy of the Coat of Arms, a membership certificate and the Jewett Family of America will receive encouraging support.

This I hope you all will do with the thought carried always by the Jewett Family of America — Toujours le Même.

Herschel Jewett - President

The Jewett Family Genealogy

Some Corrections and Additions.

No. 1667. (Vol. 1, p. 326)

Jane Pettibone, the wife of Dr. Joseph Jewett, was not the daughter of "Col. Cyrus Pettibone of Rowley, Mass.", but of Col. Ozias Pettibone, of that part of Simsbury, Conn., which later became Granby. Ozias Pettibone summed up his revolutionary war record in a letter sent in 1786 to the governor of Connecticut resigning his commission as Lieutenant Colonel, in which he wrote: "I have Served as a Commission Officer a Long Time, aspecially throu the Hull of the Late and Troublesome War, and the Gratist Part of Said Time as Lt. Coll. of the Eighteenth Regiment of the State of Connecticut." Incidentally Ozias' father, Jonathan Pettibone, was colonel of a regiment in the same war and died in service.

No. 1672. (Vol. 1, p. 328)

Sybil Pettibone, wife of Joshua Jewett, was not the daughter of "Col. Cyrus Pettibone", but of Col. Ozias Pettibone, of whom mention is made under No. 1667.

No. 5879. (Vol. 2, p. 844)

Theodore M. Maltbie spent his early years in Norfolk, Conn., moving to Granby, Conn., in 1865, and making that town his home thereafter. He had his law office in Hartford. He died at Granby, Nov. 13, 1915. Mrs. Maltbie died Nov. 27, 1924, also at Granby.

No. 8448. Annie Louise Maltbie is still living! she never married.

No. 8449. William Mills Maltbie, after his admission to the bar in 1905, began the practice of law with his father in Hartford, Conn. In 1913 he was elected a member of the House of Representatives — in the General Assembly of Connecticut. He became assistant to the state's attorney for Hartford County and executive secretary to the Governor. In 1917 he was appointed a judge of the superior court of Connecticut, in 1925 a justice of its supreme court of errors, and in 1930 became chief justice, serving until, in 1950, he was retired under a constitutional age limitation. He has received honorary degrees as follows: Ll.D., Yale, Elon (N.C.), Hillyer (Hartford); D.C.L., Boston University; J.U.D., Trinity College (Hartford). Among other positions he has held are: president for many years of the Connecticut Prison Assn.; also for many years chairman of the Hi-Y Youth and Government Committee of the state and regional Y; trustee of the Hartford Y.M.C.A.; president and for many years director of the Charter Oak Council of Boy Scouts and a member of the National Council; chairman of the Joint Conference Committee of the Connecticut Blue Cross and Connecticut Hospital Association; president of the Greater Hartford Federation of Churches; member of the executive committee of the State Conference of Congregational Christian Churches; member of the Committee to prepare a constitution for the United Church of Christ; president of the Connecticut Opera Association. He has written numerous articles of an historical or legal nature, and a book, with a Revision, on Connecticut Appellate Procedure.

On July 28, 1917, he married Mary L. Hamlin, daughter of Erwin Pardee and Anna M. (Hills) Hamlin.

They have one son, Theodore M. Maltbie, b. March 7, 1919. He graduated from Williams College in 1941, the Yale Law School in 1945, and was admitted to the Connecticut bar that year. He is in the legal department of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co. He resides in Avon, Connecticut. On September 8, 1951, he married Mary Ross Page, daughter of Fred and Pauline (Ross) Page of New Haven, Conn. They have two children: Cynthia Ross, b. December 24, 1953 and Peter Hamlin, b. April 25, 1955.

JEWETTS OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN

Everett Douglas Jewett

The history and genealogy of the Jewetts of America compiled and published by Dr. Fred Clarke Jewett is comprised, in the greater part, of the descendants of Joseph and Maximilian, sons of Edward Jewett, clothier of Bradford, West Riding of Yorkshire, England. It is a monumental work, as anyone who has attempted to gather genealogical data soon realizes. After numerous attempts to compile a genealogy of the family by various Jewetts interested in their ancestry Dr. Jewett undertook the task, soon becoming so enthused that he neglected his practice of medicine and devoted practically his entire time for about fourteen years to the work.

The ancestry of Edward Jewett has been lost in oblivion. Many attempts have been made to locate records of his parents to no success. Possibly the last and most extensive search was made by Tracy Elliot Hazen, Ph.D., of New York City. The results of his search were published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, April, 1940.

In my capacity as Historian for the Jewett Family of America, it soon became apparent to me that among the many emigrants from England there were no doubt other Jewetts besides Maximilian and Joseph who would be attracted to these shores. Dr. Jewett in his genealogy mentions some of those who came to America.

[1]Abraham Jewett, who married in Rowley, Mass., 2: 2 month of 1661, Ann Allen. There is no record of his arrival here, nor is there proof of his relationship to Maximilian, Joseph or Edward Jewett, however, Edward had an older son, William, who remained in Bradford, England, and had a son, Abraham, baptized 14 September 1634. This may have been the Abraham.[2] I find no evidence of his descendants in the male line living today, in fact, Dr. Jewett carries his line only to the second generation. I have corresponded with at least one person who traces her lineage to him through the female line.

[3]John Jewett, who married in Rowley, Mass., 2: 2 month 1661, Elizabeth Cummings of Topsfield, Mass. As with Abraham Jewett there is no record of his arrival in Rowley. Records confirm the fact that they married the same month and day. He also may have been a son of William, the John Jewett baptized in Bradford, England, 24 November 1639. Many of his descendants are scattered throughout the United States.

Among the Newbury petitioners in 1665/6, occurs the name of Stephen Jewett[4]. No further records of him have been located. He was not a member of those who settled Newbury in 1635. Neither is his name found among the heads of families who settled there previous to 1700 as given in the first publication of the Sons and Daughters of the first settlers of Newbury.

[5]There is, in the town records of Haverhill, Mass., a contract signed by Mr. Wood, the minister, and 19 others, dated February 6, 1658, in which they agree to pay their proportions of 20£ for the purchase of a house and land for Mr. Jewett, provided he live here 7 years following the trade of a blacksmith in doing the town's work. He is a mystery to me; had he been married or had he lived in Haverhill further reference to him would no doubt have been found in the Haverhill records. My search for more information has brought no results.

From "Ancestral Heads of New England Families" we note that one Thomas Jewett was a resident of Hingham, Mass., in 1672. He was married on the 18th of October in that year to Susanna Guilford. From a paper found in a small chest and in the handwriting of Deacon Joshua Jewett I copy the following reference to Thomas Jewett: "See, Peter Hobart's Journal. Hobart was minister in Hingham and kept a journal for many years, which exists in manuscript. I have been through it all and made the following extracts which relate, as I suppose to the children of Thomas and Suzanna.

October, 1674, Mary Jewett baptized.

August 21, 1677, Thomas, son of Thomas born.

March, 1681, Hannah Jewell (probably Jewett) born.

May 20, 1683, John Jewett, Baptized.

July 15, 1685, Hannah Jewett died."

Mention is also made of the marriage of Thomas Jewitt and Susanna Guilford in volume #2 of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, page 253, entitled "The First Settlers of Hingham". At the present writing I have found no further reference to him or to his children.

In the office of the Clerk of Courts at Salem, Mass., is a deposition of Nathaniel Jewett, dated 13 September 1662, in which he states that he is about 56 years old, which would make the year of his birth in or near 1606. Where he came from or where he went to is unknown. He may be the Nathaniel Jewett mentioned in "Ancestral Heads of New England Families" as being a freeman in Concord, Mass., in 1681 and mentioned in volume #3 of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, page 246, under the list of Freemen. I find no record of his marriage or of his death. If he was married and left children, what became of them?

In 1955 I received an inquiry requesting information concerning Margaret Jewett, born October 7, 1698, and died in January, 1766. Other than the fact that she married Consider Luther of Swansea, Mass., nothing is known.

Daniel Jouhet, a French Hugenot, born on the Isle of Rea, fled from France to England and 1686 migrated to America settling first in Rhode Island; from there he went to New York, thence to South Carolina. In 1704 he returned to New York, later settling in New Jersey. He had seven children and from them are derived many of the Jouetts living in this country today. Some of the descendants of Daniel Jouhet now use the name Jewett. A letter from Chester M. Jewett in 1928 states that he was born in Harrison County, Kentucky, in 1872; that his father was John Benjamin Jewett, formerly Juett.

Moving into the nineteenth century, Dr. Fred Clarke Jewett calls our attention to a few Jewetts who have come to these shores since 1800[6]. Among the more prominent were.

John Jewett from Yorkshire, England, who settled in this country in 1842, later residing in Jewett, Tenn. He had six children. Evidently he has descendants living today, but I have no record of them.

Jonathan Jewett from North Shields, England, removed to Virginia and was killed in a mine explosion in 1845. He has many descendants, some of whom are members of our Family Association. I remember the enthusiasm which his grandson, James Madison Jewett, showed for our Family Association and the pleasure which he found in attending our family reunions in Rowley. James Madison Jewett was our Honorary Vice President for Virginia for many years, as his daughter, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Tonkin, is today.

John Rogers Jewitt of Nootka Sound fame was born in Boston, Lincolnshire, England, in 1783. He died in Hartford, Conn., in 1821. His experiences as a captive of the Indians at Nootka Sound have been published under the title of "Narrative of the Adventures and Sufferings of John R. Jewitt", a book which was well known years ago. His descendants are located mostly in Ohio.

Later arrivals to this country which have come to my notice are:

John and Jane Jewett from Leicestershire, England, in 1873. He has descendants residing in Rochester, Ohio. At least two are members of our Association.

John Samuel Jewett, born in Yorkshire, England, migrated in his younger days to this country and lived in Idaho where he died in 1946. He has descendants living there.

Benjamin Jewitt from Wrexham, Wales, settled in Philadelphia about 1880, father of our member James W. Jewitt now of New Jersey. He also has other descendants residing in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

And so it has progressed from year to year over the centuries. There seems to be no doubt that all Jewetts whether spelling one way or another could trace their ancestry back to Henri de Juett, a Knight of the First Crusade, 1096-99. This is certainly a compelling reason why every effort should be made to record as completely as possible all Jewetts, whether directly traceable to Joseph and Maximilian or not. This is of course a herculean task and can only be approximated by cooperative effort and tireless recording of every fact obtainable. Herewith I have given you a few, already somewhat recorded, and have others still in the process of tracing. It would be a wonderful thing if the Jewett Family of America could accumulate enough facts and record enough descendants to prove beyond shadow of doubt a single progenitor.

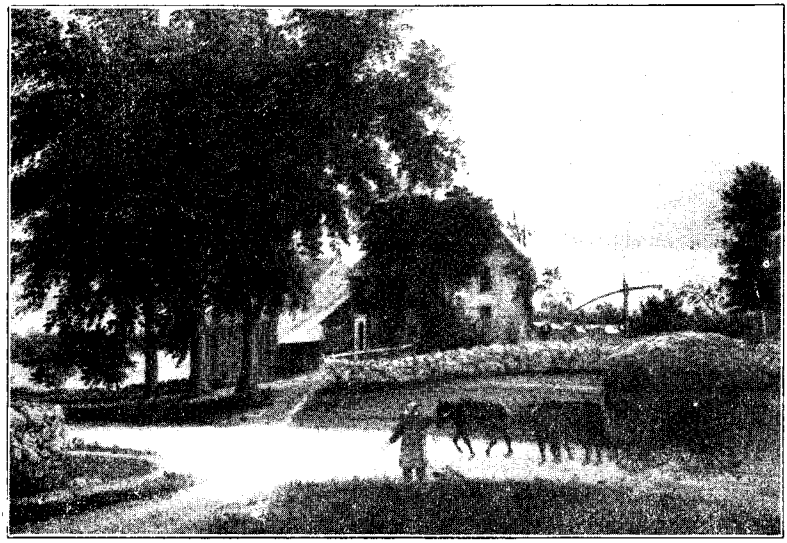
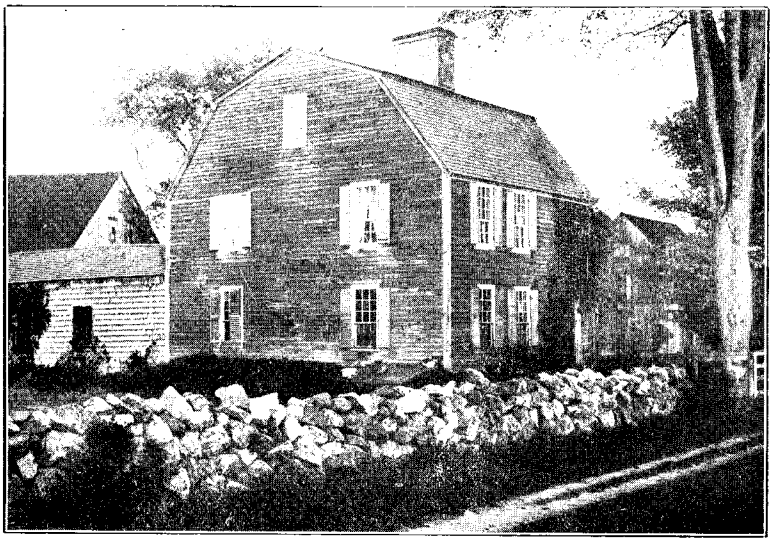
An exhibit of the paintings of William S. Jewett, one of California's pioneer artists and a pioneer member of the San Francisco Society of California Pioneers was held in the Society's Galleries from November, 1957, through January, 1958. The first all-Jewett exhibit to be held, arranged under the able direction of Dr. Elliott A. P. Evans, curator of the Society. Dr. Evans has presented our Association a copy of the latest publication of the Society. It is a fine edition to our collection of Jewett ephemera as it is devoted entirely to William S. Jewett and his paintings.



*The Parrat-Jewett House, Rowley. Birthplace in 1768 of Deacon Joshua Jewett. This house stood on the original house lot of Deacon Francis Parrat and may have been built by him. Parrat returned to England and died there in 1656. The house was purchased from Abraham Colby by Lieut. Joshua Jewett in 1746. After being occupied by 4 generations of the Jewett Family it was taken down in 1875.



*The Harris-Jewett House, Rowley. Home of Deacon Joshua Jewett after his marriage to Phebe Harris in 1798 until his death in 1862, age 93 years. This house was built about 1765 and is still standing.

DEACON JOSHUA JEWETT'S DIARY

In the book, Rowley, Mass., "Mr. Ezechi Rogers Plantation" 1639-1850, by Amos E. & Emily M. (Adams) Jewett, published by the Jewett Family of America, Inc., 1946, a chapter has been devoted to the diary of Deacon Joshua Jewett.

About 1940 Amos E. Jewett purchased in Rowley an old desk and its contents. Among other papers found upon opening the desk was an heretofor unknown diary of Deacon Joshua Jewett, lacking, however, as Mr. Jewett states on page 274, "The record from 1839 to 1859 is missing".

In November, 1957, a bookdealer at Boston called to say that he had purchased a small chest containing many papers and letters relating to Rowley, including an old diary. A hurried trip to Boston and an examination of the contents of the chest proved that here was the missing 20 years of Deacon Joshua Jewett's Diary. A deal was soon made not only for the diary, but for the chest and its contents, as many of the papers had been owned by Deacon Jewett and some of the letters referred to the 1855 reunion in Rowley. How did this material reach Somerville, Mass., where the bookdealer had purchased it? Inquiry and research work has brought to light the fact that the grandparents of the owner had lived at one time in Rowley, directly across the street from Deacon Joshua Jewett and were living there at the time of his decease. We are fortunate that these papers were not destroyed and that a bookdealer in Boston should be an acquaintance of your secretary. Needless to say, the diary is again complete; stored in a safe place and highly cherished.

The diary, kept for 72 years, contains in most instances the daily record of the weather and the direction of the winds, the day by day activities of the family, a record of their many visitors, a record of the deaths in Rowley as they occurred, and the record of the texts for each Sunday's Sermons, together with the minister.

In order that the diary as published in Chapter 26, Rowley, Mass., may be completed we include extracts from 1839 to 1859.

Jean Marie Hillman and Bernard L. Jessup, Jr., were married July 20, 1957. They reside in Freeport, Long Island, New York.

Your Secretary spent a very enjoyable weekend in September in Minneapolis where he visited with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Burlingame and with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jewett; with Miss Ethel Jewett of Wayzata; and with other Jewetts in that vicinity.

Mrs. Lucille B. Metzger, Oroville, California, is the Librarian for the Butte County Free Library. She is descended from the Boynton Family as well as being of Jewett descent.

Mrs. Georga Anne (Geigel) Voight received her Master's Degree from Ames College in Iowa in August, 1957, and is teaching in the Public Schools in Algona, Iowa. She is a descendant of Enoch Jewett #913 in the genealogy.

Who is John M. Jewett, Rotarian, of Seattle, Washington?

The nineteenth annual reunion of the Jewetts of Hampton, Connecticut, was held Sunday, October 13, 1957, meeting for services at the Hampton Congregational Church, followed by dinner and business meeting in the Chapel.

Who were the ancestors of Daniel Nathaniel Jewett? Removed from Cattaraugus County, New York, and settled in Wexford County, Michigan, in 1866. He married Abigal Webster. Their five children were: Emily, Jane, James Franklin, George Webster, Melvina.

Miss Judith Jewett of New York, daughter of your secretary, spent three weeks in South America in October, traveling via Braniff Airlines. While there she visited with Samuel A. Newman of Rio de Janerio. Mr. Newman is a life Member of our Association.

William van Duyn Jewett of Amherst, Massachusetts, spends his winters at his Florida home in South Naples. Mr. Jewett's line in the genealogy ceased with his grandfather, John Light Jewett #4102, who was President of the Irving National Bank in New York City at the time of his death in 1890 at the age of 59 years. Mr. Jewett's father, John Hill Jewett, was a very successful silk merchant. He spent most of his life in Japan. He was for fifteen years Consul General for Denmark; entertained Prince Valdemar of Denmark and was by him, on behalf of King Christian of Denmark, created a Chevalier Dannebrog. He died in 1939. Mr. Jewett is a retired Textile executive, born in Yokohama, Japan in 1894. The outstanding military careers of Mr. Jewett and his 2 brothers are worthy of note.

John Jewett, born in Yokohama in 1891, served as an officer of Field Artillery in World War I. He entered the Marine Corps in 1943, commanded the Japanese Language School, U. S. Marine School in San Diego, landed in Japan with the 4th Marine Air Wing and died in Tokyo as a Marine Major, attached to the occupation forces.

Thomas, born in Yokohama, 1893, served in the First World War as an officer in the Marines, re-entered the Marine Corps in 1942 and served in the United States and in the Caribbean, retiring as a major. He resides in Phelps, New York.

William van Duyn served as an officer, Marine Corps, in World War I, re-entered the Corps in 1942, saw combat with the Third Marine Division on Guadalcanal and Bougainville; returned to civilian life as a Lt. Colonel.

Otis R. Johnson, San Francisco, July, 1957

To weary hearts, to mourning homes,
God's meekest Angel gently comes:
No power has he to banish pain,
Or give us back our lost again;
And yet in tenderest love, our dear
And Heavenly Father sends him here.

There's quiet in that Angel's glance,
There's rest in his still countenance!
He mocks no grief with idle cheer,
Nor wounds with words the mourner's ear;
But ills and woes he may not cure
He kindly trains us to endure.
