NATIONAL REUNION IN ROWLEY, MASSACHUSETTS

JULY TENTH and ELEVENTH

Rowley, Massachusetts, the town which our ancestors, Deacon Maximilian Jewett and his brother, Joseph, together with other hardy pioneers from Bradford, West Riding of Yorkshire, England, mapped out and founded, is celebrating her three hundred twenty-fifth anniversary this year. BUT, even of more importance to us is the fact that Rowley is also going to be the scene of the Jewett Family of America reunion on Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11.

Before divulging any more of the details or elaborating on the rapidly growing township which is still richly imbued with memories of our predecessors, why nnt take about thirty seconds to mark that date on the most conspicuous calendar in your home. With that clearly designated, you and your family can immediately begin making plans to visit Rowley, Massachusetts the week after the "Fourth".

This will be the twenty-fourth reunion of the Jewett Family and in-asmuch as the Town is planning a gala anniversary celebration, we decided that since our forefathers settled and developed this town, which was then nothing more than a wilderness in a strange continent, our own private celebration should supersede all others. So, this year let us all unite and pay homage to those rugged, God-fearing and peace loving individuals who, under the leadership of the Reverend Ezekial Rogers came before us.

The committee planning the event includes our secretary-treasurer, Everett D. Jewett; a former selectman, Albert W. Haley, Leonard Peabody and others. The schedule of events tentatively runs as follows: Friday, July 10, registration; Friday evening, informal reception, Saturday, July 11, executive business meeting, dinner and a speaker whose name we will not divulge, but are certain you will all enjoy.

All activities will take place in the Rowley Congregational Meeting House, of which our ancestor Maximilian Jewett was the first deacon.

Your Committee has planned and scheduled all events in a manner which will give all in attendance ample opportunity to renew old acquaintances, develop new ones and discuss with association officers the path our group should follow in the coming years. For those interested in delving deeper into, and seeing for themselves, the historic area where their forerunners first trod, there will be time for that also. The entire program is being planned on a "simple" theme especially for the reasons expressed above.

We're all looking forward to seeing you in Rowley, Massachusetts, Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11, 1964, for the biggest and best reunion yet. So, you've got the calendar marked, the planning wheels are turning, the anticipation is strengthening — we can't wait to see you either.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPORT

ROGER JEWETT

Since the last report made to you in the previous yearbook, your President has done more than the usual amount of traveling, having gotten in a fast eleven-day trip to the Pacific Coast by air and car. The primary purpose was to attend a business meeting in San Diego, yet my wife and I found time for most delightful but all too hurried visits on our Director, G. Harold Pfau and his wife in Tucson, Arizona, and Mr. Hugh S. Jewett in Bakersfield, California, and also my aunt, Mrs. Ruth Hazelton, whom I had not seen in over thirty years, and her children in and around Los Alamitos, California.

In the last eighteen months, I have been fortunate to be able to call on all relatives that were second cousins or closer except one cousin in the St. Louis area, whom I shall get to see in April, 1965. This meant calling on relatives in the metropolitan Boston area, on Long Island, in suburban Baltimore, Maryland, and suburban Toledo, Ohio, as well as in the Los Angeles area, a typical example of how the Jewetts have moved across the country and married into different families, thus becoming entwined in various religions in many cases. Here is a typical example of our freedoms at work, almost a social case study of American democracy.

During the winter, we were visited by Dr. Stephen P. Jewett and his grandson of West Falls, New York, who took in the Williams College Winter Ski Carnival. In the summer, we attended a very pleasant and large gathering of Jewetts in Weybridge, Vermont, where we again met Mr. Hugh S. Jewett, a native of that area on his way back to California from a trip abroad.

In our own immediate family, my daughter, Blanche Lind Jewett married Charles Ellsworth in the beautiful Congregational Church in Williamstown. She has since presented us with a grand-daughter. My older son left Springfield College and is now taking his basic training in the Air Force at Lackland Military Training Center in Texas, while the younger son is at Mount Hermon School in Massachusetts.

In October, a favorite cousin, Mrs. Ethel F. Jewett, wife of Dr. William A. Jewett of Needham, died and was buried in our old family burial lot in the Bath, Maine cemetery. I believe she was one of the two oldest women to attend the 1961 Reunion when her husband was made an honorary member as one of the few founders of the Jewett Family of America still living.

The Board of Directors of the Jewett Family have held two meetings in the past year, one in Rowley and the last in Salem, Massachusetts on May 25, 1963. Further efforts are being made to obtain a tax exempt status from the Internal Revenue Service for the Jewett Memorial Library, Inc. We hope to have a report on that situation at the Reunion and perhaps a sketch of the plans for a new library. If so, we shall have more to say about this at that time.

We have received several inquiries and orders for the Jewett plates which we have been able to fill. There are still some of the original 300 china plates with the coat-of-arms in color available at $8.50 if any member of the family wants to send me their order and they will be available at the Reunion.

I hope we will be able to send you more information about the Reunion in the spring. In any event, set the date on your calendar of events you want to attend and plan to be there.

TO THE SENIOR MEMBER — A SALUTE

Over the years many informative articles and anecdotes having some connection with the Jewett Family of America have appeared in our yearbook. We can't recall any which began with a riddle. Therefore, without permission from anybody, we decided to break a long-standing precedent and pose this conundrum for you.

Take a family man, a teacher, a farm boy, a bible student, a major manufacturing company executive, a student of law, a school principal, a traveling salesman, an honest and yet successful politician, an organizer, a farm chore-boy, a - - - - -; if the answer isn't on the tip of your tongue after all those clues then it's time you were introduced to the gentleman.

Mr. George W. Jewett of Lansing, Michigan, the oldest known living member of the Jewett Family of America. With deference to Mr. Jewett, we shall make a humble attempt to relate chronologically, and in capsule form, almost ninety-seven years of total living. The type most of us dream of but lack the perseverence.

George was barely one year old when the family moved to Ingham County, Michigan, where they settled on a little farm in the township of Aurelius. His father was Lester E. Jewett, who was born in the state of New York and his mother, who came from England, was named Caroline. They were a hardworking and industrious family and George, from the time he was able to toddle about, until he was nine years old, did his utmost to carry his small burden of family responsibility.

Even before reaching the age of nine, the boy felt an urgency for knowledge. He was obsessed with the idea of attending school and broadening the scope of a still young but hungry mind. Because there was no means of getting to a school, which in that period, seemed so distant from the family homestead, George went to live with his grandmother whose abode was considerably nearer the district school. While living with his grandmother, the eager youngster worked untiringly for his board and clothing in order that he be allowed the "privilege" of attending school during the winter months.

He was fourteen years old when he completed the education the district school had to offer, but he was not satisfied. He felt that there was still a void which needed additional schooling and he made several attempts to gain admittance to Michigan Agricultural College, now known as Michigan State University. Unfortunately, he was refused admittance. Not because of his scholastic abilities, but because he was too young. To say that George was disappointed is trite and without emotion. But, disappointments and set-backs to the maturing young man had an inverse affect as opposed to most of us. He worked all the harder and schooling or not, his drive didn't know the meaning of discouragement. He had come a long way since he first saw the light of day back in 1866. That was in the little village of Lima in Washtenaw County. A long way toward bettering himself and, in that era, in mileage also. But to George, there was still a vastness to explore. The fact that his age prevented his admittance to a college of his choice caused him to seek an alternate course. He set his sights on Mason High School and the aim was almost as great as Michigan Agricultural College. Why? Tuition was the roadblock and he was without funds. An understanding farmer, who was in need of an extra hand, hired George at a pay rate of slightly more than thirty cents a day. From this meager income George managed to eke out an existence and pay his school tuition fees. In 1855 he graduated from high school, still a humble young man, but a man with a stronger inner feeling of self achievement. His years of schooling coupled with his more years of constant toil, marked him as a man of experience, ability and compassion. He was singled out as a professional man and entered the teaching profession which he followed for ten years in the District schools. After ten years of passing on his knowledge to others he was named principal of the Onondaga Village grade school, a post which he held for two years. Only two years because his farm in Aurelius township was beckoning.

Hardly had he returned to his homestead when he was informed of his appointment as deputy county clerk of Ingham County in charge of the Lansing office. While in Lansing, he studied law under Judges Persons and Weist. Again, as in previous scholastic ventures, he was an apt and able law student. However, for reasons known only to George, he never took the Bar examination.

In 1902 he decided to throw his hat into a small style political ring. He announced his candidacy for the office of Ingham County Clerk and when the votes were counted he emerged victorious by an overwhelming majority. He aspired to a second term at this office and once again was swept in with full gale force. As of this writing, George W. Jewett is believed to be the oldest living ex-Ingham County official.

After two terms as county clerk, George decided to give up politics and subsequently purchased a farm just outside the limits of Lansing. Here he had time to take a long look at his obstacle-ridden, yet colorful past and also plan his future ventures. He remained on the farm approximately a year when he took a job as a salesman for the Bemont Stove Works and his territory covered all states east of the Rocky mountains.

In 1910 he married Mollie Sanborn of Lansing, and until her death in 1961, there was a union which may many times be equalled, but never surpassed.

As an organizer he was also brilliant. It was in 1920 that he and three other parties joined forces and organized the Lindell Drop Forge Company in Lansing. George was secretary-treasurer of the company until his retirement in 1945. Early last May the Lindell Drop Forge Company held its annual party for retired members of the firm. The event was held at the Americana Inn in East Lansing and George enjoyed immeasurably to be once again among the retirees of a great plant which he helped organize. As a matter of fact, he is the last of the original organizers of the drop forge firm.

Another accomplishment of which George can be justly proud is the fishing club which he organized for judges and lawyers located at Black Lake in Cheboygan County.

Our senior member has many other outstanding qualities. He has always been a deeply religious man and has made an extensive study of the Bible and any other religious book he could find. His memory is remarkable and his uncanny ability to quote, as well as elaborate, on any passage or, if you will, message, in the Bible never ceases to amaze his associates. George has always regarded the possession of knowledge of good literature very highly. This is a statement which, to those who know him, probably seems unnecessary. But for those who have never experienced the pleasure of listening to this unusual gentleman quote from Robert Burns, Sir Walter Scott and a host of others, we feel it is not unnecessary.

George, who is now approaching his ninety-seventh birthday, is highly respected by all the residents of Storybook House where he has been residing for the past several months. According to one of the other residents of Storybook House, "We always wait for George to say Grace before eating." It appears that no matter what the topic of conversation, his opinion on any subject is sought by fellow residents.

The great man now living in peace and contentment at Storybook House also has lived what many would consider a storybook life. He has five children, Blanch, Carrie, Theris, Francis and George, Jr. We mention his children, but there are grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. He did indeed lead a bountiful life and he is cheerfully looking forward to reaching the century mark which is not too far in the future.

For posterity, as well as young people today, George W. Jewett is a living example of what can be accomplished by anyone who has the ambition and desire to get ahead. He set his goals high and despite overwhelming odds, hardships and privation, these goals were attained.

Again, we salute you.

ORIGIN OF THE FAMILY CREST

Over a period of several years we have received numerous inquiries regarding both the origin and meaning of the Jewett Family of America crest. So, for the benefit of our growing family, we take pleasure in reprinting the following which we consider pertinent data. Origin of the information was taken from the "History and Genealogy of the Jewetts of America" by Dr. Fred Clarke Jewett.

"The family of Jewett is without doubt of Norman origin, but when they settled in England and the origin of the name are surrounded with considerable mystery. The first syllable of the name as now spelled suggests the question whether or not it is derived from Jew, which is a family name. The termination "et" or "ett" could perhaps be accounted for analogically by reference to such a name as Hewett, supposed to be derived from Hugh, Hew, etc. The name Jew or Jews does not imply that the founder of the family was a Hebrew, but, as Newton supposes, from his having slain Jews in Syria when such deeds were considered meritorious. He and Guillian suppose that the name Ives was originally Jeus, which became Jues, and then, by common change of "I" for "J", and "U" for "V", Ives. The coat-of-arms of this family once bore three Jews' heads couped. The arms of the family of Jew and its derivatives are, however, entirely different from those of our family, and those of all the families whose names have clearly a similar origin with our own. In all these names the "T" seems to be one of the radical letters, and the uniform presence of the letter "T" seems fatal to this supposed origin.

Bardsley in "English Surnames", concludes that "the name Jewett comes from the diminutive of Juliet," and cites a number of entries from the Rolls of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries to establish his theory.

The "Armorial General Précédé des terms du blazon." Per. J. B. Riestap, Deuxieme Edition, etc., gives a French family, viz., Ivatte de Boishamon-Bretagne, that settled in England about 1417. The coat-of-arms of this family was D'azur au chevron a'arg., acc., re trois quinte feuilles du même. The name of this family was changed to Juatte, Jouett, Jowitt, etc. The arms, however, of the families of Jouett and Jowitt are quite different from ours, but appear to be a much later date.

The coat-of-arms of the Jewetts of London Gales was: On a cross argent, five fleur-de-lis of the first. He beareth argent, on a cross of sable, five fleur-de-lis of the first by the name Le Neve. This was the court armor in the time of Henry IV., appertaining to Robert Le Neve, of Tiverskill, in the County of Norfolk.

The arms of Ivat confirmed to Thomas Ivat, of London, June 27, 1628, are similar to ours, viz., Ivatt or Ivat, Argent, on cross gules, five fleur-de-lis of the field (another, the tintures reversed). Crest—Out of mural coronet, an armed cubit arm holding in the gauntlet all pps. a fleur-de-lis or.

The name of Jueta or Ivets occurs in the Liber Winton. This book contains the survey of the City of Winchester taken by order of King Henry I between the years 1107 and 1128. From that time we find what is supposed to be the name in a great variety of forms. The older forms seem to have been Juatt, Juet, Juett, Ivet, Ivett, Jvat, Ivat, Juit, Juite, (there was a Sir Henry Juite, Baronet, living in Ireland in 1850), Juitt. The Latin forms are Juet, Jouitt, Jeuit, Jewitt, and Jewett.

In a series of articles entitled "American Armorial Families," arranged by Mortimer Delano, Pursuivant of Arms, and published in 1896, he states: "In the following roll will be found those American families that have a well established right to court armor, by inheritance, grant, or otherwise." In this list is given:

Jewett—Massachusetts. Gentlemen.

"Descent: Maximilian & Joseph Jewett from Bradford 1638 to Rowley, sons of Edward Jewett, of Bradford, Yorkshire, m. 1604, d. 1615; descent from Henri de Juatt 1096-9.

"Armorial Bearings—House of Juatt, England.

"Arms: Argent, on a cross gules, five fleur-de-lis argent.

"Crest: An armed arm proper holding a fleur-de-lis or. All upon the wreathed helmet.

"Mantling: Argent and gules.

The above Henri de Juatt was a Knight of the First Crusade, 1096-1099. Our name frequently occurs on the records of the 13th and 14th centuries, and with greater frequency in the later records. July 5, 1486, King Henry VII., of England, granted to Henry Jewet certain offices for live, viz., "Forrester of Windsor Forest and Parker of Sunnyng-Hill Park within Windsor Forest, "but no reason is given in the grant for these honors.

Following down to a later date we find in Vol. XVIII of the Harlien Society (English) Reports": "The arms of Jewett, of Chester, England —Argent, on a cross Gules, five fleur-de-lis of the first, in dexter chief a crescent of the second." "William Jewett, of the Cittie of Chester, alderman and Justice of Peace, and was maior thearof Anno D'ni 1578, a seconnde sonne to Thomas Iwett, of Heyton, in Bradforde Dale in the Countye of York wch Thomas mariede Elizabeth doughter to Shakellton of Myddopp in Heptonstall within the vicaredge of Holly-fax Com. Ebor' And mother to the saide William whitch William Iwett mariede Margery doughter to Robert Bellyn late of the Cittie of Chester wch Robert Bellyn married Cicelye doughter to John Poole seconnde sonne to Sr John Poole in Warral County of Chester knight.

"And hee the said Wm. Iwett saythe that there (their) badge is a nightingale. But how or in what sort hee cannot Instructe mee and therefore have I omytted the setting downe of yt till I may doe it p'fectlye.

"Signed Wyll'm Jewett."

Edward Jewett, father of the Jewetts who first came to America, was born in 1580 and lived in Bradford, West Riding of Yorkshire, England. The arms borne by him and which were brought to this country by Deacon Maximilian and Joseph Jewett, and which they were so careful to preserve on the records here is thus described on old records in both France and England: "He beareth, Gules, on a cross argent, Five fleur-de-lis of the first. Crest, an eagle's Neck between two Wings displayed argent, by the name of Jewett."

This is the coat-of-arms recognized by the Viscount de Fronsac, Chancellor of the Aryan Order of St. George in 1891, in an article written by him and with which he gives a fine illustration and states, "these are the arms of the Jewetts of Maine and Texas."

As stated above, our crest is "an eagle's Neck between two wings." The motto is "Toujours le meme."

Much information may sometimes be afforded in genealogical research by the coat-of-arms. It will be seen on comparing the arms of the Jewetts of Chester, arms of Ivat, arms of Jewetts of London Gales, and of the "House of Juatt," that they are very similar to our own, and that all evidence points to the view that the Jewetts descend from the "House of Juatt, of England," and in the opinion of the Author from Henri de Juatt, the knight of the First Crusade. It is true there is a difference in the crest, but this is not part of a coat- of-arms. The crest is an adjunct to the coat-of-arms, but is often carelessly spoken of as forming part of it. It is often a play upon one's name, or is suggested by the name. Thus the crest of the Harts may be the animal of that name or a heart."

Unfortunately, we are not as well versed in heraldry as we might desire. Therefore, we are not in a position to offer proof positive regarding the authenticity of the foregoing material relating to the origin of the Jewett name, or, of the Jewett crest. However, a few years ago we did unearth a few shreds of information which some day may fall into place in the puzzle. We learned that one branch of the Jewett family moved from Rowley, Massachusetts to Portland, Maine, taking with them the Jewett crest which was brought to Rowley from Bradford, England by Deacon Maximilian Jewett in 1638. Despite continuous and unrelentless searching for additional knowledge regarding the whereabouts of the crest, to date, its resting place remains a secret.

Reunion of the Jewett's of Mason, Michigan

The forty-ninth Annual Reunion of the Jewett's of Mason, Michigan was held at Ingham County Park, Mason, on Sunday, July 28, 1963. Ingham County Park grows more beautiful with the years. Huge maple trees center the grove where the annual Jewett picnic and gathering takes place. The green grass slopes down to the three large ponds. Water cascades from a flowing spring at which there is a stone wishing well. We are indeed grateful to Arthur W. Jewett, Jr. for sponsoring this lovely, historical park, and for his many other civic accomplishments.

For the first time in many years the rains came and caused a short postponement of the dinner, but the sky soon cleared and the dinner, so well prepared by wonderful Jewett cooks, was well enjoyed.

In the absence of our official Theologian, Mrs. Alton L. Jewett, Mrs. Arthur Jewett gave the Blessing. Mr. Alton Jewett, the eldest of our immediate Family, was present to continue his record of never having missed a reunion. The business meeting was opened by president Gary Lamphere. The minutes of the 1962 meeting were read by Judy Lamphere. (Judy is the daughter of the late Richard Jewett.) Arthur W. Jewett and Herschel C. Jewett were appointed a committee to plan for a special celebration on our 50th reunion. Herschel Jewett was elected president for the ensuing year; Emery Jewett, vice-president; and Madelon Lindsay, secretary and treasurer. Letters were read from a number of friends and relatives.

FORTIETH ANNUAL JEWETT REUNION

The fortieth Annual Reunion of the Jewett Family was held August 3, 1963, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Seamon, Y.M.C.A. Day Camp, Binghamton, N. Y., with 18 members present. A basket lunch was served at 4 o'clock.

In the absence of the president, Kenneth Kunzman, the business meeting was called to order by Jane Jewett Seamon. A minute of silent prayer was observed in memory of our departed family members.

Larry Dillon was requested to report concerning his son, Martin Dillon. He stated that Martin had been selected as a Rotary Exchange Student to attend the 1963-1964 school year at "Louisenlund", a private boy's boarding school, located near Eckernforde, Germany. "Matty" sailed July 26th on the Dutch liner "The New Amsterdam". Upon his arrival in Germany he will be the guest of the German Rotary on a tour through parts of the country, including several days in Berlin. At the completion of the tour until school begins September 4th, he will attend the International Boy's Camp on the island of Lanoog which is in the North Sea. The school is located in northern Germany on the Baltic Sea. Sailing is one of the school sports at "Louisenlund".

Following an invitation by Floyd and Jane Seamon, a motion was made by Floyd Jewett, seconded and carried to hold the 1964 reunion at the Y.M.C.A. Day Camp. A collection was taken to defray expenses for the day including a five dollar donation to Mr. D. A. Salmon, executive secretary of the Y.M.C.A., in appreciation for the use of the grounds and equipment for the 1963 reunion. The balance of the collection was turned over to Mr. and Mrs. Seamon.

A report was given that Mr. Carlton MacNamara is a patient in the Wilkes-Barre Veterans Hospital. Twenty-Fifth Annual Reunion of Jewetts of Hampton, Conn.

The Silver Anniversary Reunion of the Hampton Jewetts was held on Sunday, July 28, 1963 at the Hampton Fire House, Hampton, Conn. Despite the fact that this was one of the hottest, most humid days of the year, some 59 members and friends appeared on the scene.

The dinner was climaxed with the cutting of a beautiful anniversary cake which had served as a center piece for the head table.

After dinner, the meeting was brought to order by President Viola J. Clapp, and after the reading of the Secretary's and Treasurer's report, the bi-annual election was held. This was easily disposed of by someone moving to keep the present incumbents in office for two more years. Re-elected were Viola J. Clapp, president; Carl Jewett, vice-president; and Elmer M. Jewett, secretary and treasurer.

Communications from absent members was next on the program, and letters and cards were read from Everett D. Jewett, Secretary and Treasurer of the Jewett Family of America, Gladys Weeks, Margaret J. Thayer, Mary Pearl Stone, and a poem from Maud Amidon.

Due to the intense heat, the contemplated program was abandoned, and instead, the remainder of the day was spent in nostalgic memories of past reunions. A count of hands indicated that there were eighteen present today that had attended the first reunion in 1935 at Elmer C. Jewett's house in Clark's Corner. Numerous "Old Timers" were called upon to say a few words, and many interesting events were recalled. The meeting closed with Viola J. Clapp giving the highlights of the twenty-four previous reunions.

As a parting thought in closing the minutes of the twenty-fifth reunion, may we bear in mind Annie Edwards admonition that this group do something creative in memory of Susan Jewett Griggs, who was the Jewett historian for all of these years.

Weybridge, Vt. Family Reunion

On the last Sunday of July, 1963, the descendants of Philo Jewett of Weybridge, Vermont, held a family reunion in the Weybridge Congregational Church with close to one hundred members in attendance. The reunion was conducted on an informal basis and gave all who attended an opportunity to reminisce and exchange family news.

Special guests at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jewett of Williamstown, Massachusetts. Roger is president of the Jewett Family of America Association.

The reunion was attended by people from as far away as New Jersey, Michigan, California, as well as Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Among those present were: Dr. Hugh J. Jewett of Bakersfield, California; Donald Swett and his son of Maplewood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. David Brogan and family of Lansing, Mich.; Mrs. Preston McCutcheon and her son, Robert, Midland, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lang and family, Cromwell, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jewett and family, Marlboro, N. H.; and from Vermont, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dodd and family, North Sheldon; Mrs. Norman Stranahan and Mr. and Mrs. Lennel Peet, Burlington; Mrs. Harold Hamilton, Northfield; Mrs. Edward DeLaire, Hinesburg; Mr. and Mrs.

Lloyd Jewett and son, Chester; Mr. and Mrs. Silas Jewett and family, Morristown; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Clifford, Brandon; and numerous members of the family from Middlebury, Cornwall, Ripton and Weybridge.

For the descendants of Philo Dennis Jewett and others who are not familiar with the pioneering background of this marvelous man, we offer the following few paragraphs to enlighten you regarding some of his ventures:

Philo Dennis Jewett was born in Weybridge, Vermont, July 31st, 1837. On October 8, 1873, in his 37th year, in San Mateo, California, he married Jeanie Deans Ketcham, whose birthplace was Sudbury, Vermont; and the date, March 3rd, 1851. Jeanie was the daughter of Andrew Jackson and Miranda (Buckmaster) Ketcham.

He was a well educated man having studied at both Middlebury (Vermont) Academy and Racine (Wisconsin) College. Philo was among other things a pioneer, a cattleman, a businessman, a farmer and a shrewd financier. He spent most of his life on the west coast where he went when he was still fairly young. There he raised cattle; he raised cotton; he was affiliated with the small group which built the first store in Bakersfield, California, and the second building. He was one of the incorporators of the Kern Valley Bank and he owned the famous Crystal Baths, the largest and most modern saltwater baths in the world, located at North Beach on the west coast.

He was also a member of the California Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of San Francisco and of California Commandry No. 1, K. T.; he was also a member of Islam Temples of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine as well as the socialistic order of the Native Sons of Vermont of San Francisco.

In closing, we would like to quote from an item published in the Bakersfield, California, "Independent" following the death of Philo, February 5th, 1902:

"In the death of Philo D. Jewett in San Francisco, Wednesday night last, Bakersfield and Kern Co. suffered the loss of one of her very best and most highly respected citizens. Few men lived lives so worthy of emulation as his. Weakness is said to be the common heritage of mankind and all men seem to have their faults, but his was a character upon which no blemish could be seen. Honest, fearless, generous, charitable, he was the embodiment of all that makes a good, true and faithful citizen and a most valuable member of society.

"Some men have negative or rather passive lives and they have no enemies because they do nothing to make them, but the life of Philo Jewett was decidedly an affirmative one. He was an active, enterprising man, conducting business of more than ordinary magnitude. Yet he had those inestimable qualities that enabled him to deal with his fellow men in a manner so just and magnanimous that no man could but honor and respect him."

DESCENDANTS OF HANNAH JEWETT TENNEY

By Ellen (Sanborn) Merriam

The story of the following branch of the Jewett Family was written as a direct result of a desire early in 1963 to set down for my son the record of his ancestors. Tracing ancestry proved to be such absorbing and challenging work that it soon became a major interest in my life. With the encouragement of Everett D. Jewett, Historian of the Jewett Family of America, and with the whole-hearted cooperation and interest of many of the descendants of Hannah Jewett Tenney, I have compiled this record for publication in the Jewett Family Yearbook.

Great care has been taken to make several corrections and additions in the family of Paul[7] Hardy as shown in the Hardy and Hardie (Genealogy) 1935, page 519. This genealogy does not record the dates of birth and death of Jedediah[6] Hardy, Paul's father. From his gravestone in Gumpus Burial Ground, Pelham, New Hampshire, we find that Jedediah Hardy died 27 October 1823, age 75 years. Mary, his wife, died 6 February 1824, age 71 years.

Many months were spent in locating the names of the parents of Mary Boynton Kendall, second wife of Paul Hardy, and it is with satisfaction that I am able to include this information.

A treasured possession in the family of Philip John Connell of Hudson, New Hampshire, is a letter written by Jedediah Hardy to his wife and his father, Mr. Philip[5] Hardy, from his camp 2 miles from Ticonderoga during the Revolutionary War, dated August 28 and September 1, 1776, and addressed to Mr. Philip Hardy. He mentions Father Wiman, probably his father-in-law, Joseph Wyman, husband of Mary Johnson (see Wyman Family, by T. B. Wyman, 1849. Joseph Wyman's ancestry is found in a handwritten record at the New England Historic Genealogical Society). Names and dates of the children of Frederic A. and Susan Martine (Hardy) Cutter not otherwise available were furnished by the Frederic A. Cutter birthday book, now in the possession of Charles C. Jack of Ambler, Pennsylvania.

To avoid repetition, we refer you to "The History and Genealogy of the Jewetts of America" by Frederic Clarke Jewett, M.D., 1908, for the first four generations. The fifth generation is to be found in "The Tenney Family" by Prof. Jonathan Tenney, 1904, page 55. The sixth generation is published in the "Hardy and Hardie, Past and Present", by H. Claude Hardy and Rev. Edwin Noah Hardy, 1935, page 433. We continue:
